fostering connections plus engagement among volunteer leaders. Participants not only gain insights into the workings of IEEE, yet they also discover the array of support services available to them. Furthermore, it is a critical nexus for charting IEEE's future trajectory, an objective that all attendees actively participated in.

Sections Congress this time garnered participation from over 1200 volunteer leaders in-person from August 11th to 13th. The Shaw Centre,² an award-winning venue, in Ottawa, Canada's National Capital, provided the perfect backdrop for this knowledge exchange and collaborative endeavor.
