TOPLAS Editors-in-Chief

Dear TOPLAS authors, reviewers, and readers,

We are delighted to announce that Jens Palsberg will be the next Editor-in-Chief of TOPLAS, starting on September 1, 2010. Jens had been an Associate Editor at TOPLAS for six years. His technical expertise and extensive experience with TOPLAS are certain to serve him well as he takes over. We expect great things from Jens!

We are grateful for the opportunity we have had to serve our field as Editors of TOPLAS and to the many people who have helped us. In the last issue of TOPLAS, we thanked our associate editors and listed the TOPLAS reviewers during our tenure. Several people behind the scenes have worked hard to make our job easier and more enjoyable. We sincerely thank Bernard Rous, the Deputy Director of ACM Publications for all his help in navigating the ACM system for us. We thank Joanne Pello, the TOPLAS production manager, who seamlessly delivered final copy of TOPLAS over and over again. We especially thank Aubrey Hooser, the TOPLAS traffic manager for most of our tenure, who kept all the reviewers, Associate Editors, and us on task. Her efficiency and professionalism are unmatched. Thank you so much, Aubrey!

As we reflect on our tenure, we find TOPLAS has a healthy submission rate, a predictable reviewing cycle, and publications that continue to be highly cited by the community. The excitement and health of the programming language research community lies at the heart of TOPLAS, and we look forward to its continued success.

Sincerely,

KATHRYN S. MCKINLEY AND KESHAV PINGALI
